SURVEY OF TOBACCO FIELDS OF COUNTY TO BE MADE AT ONCE

Expert From Bureau of Plant Industry Is Here to Spend Several Days Studying Mason County Tobacco Fields For Root Rot.

Mr. C. M. Slagg, an expert from the office of Tobacco Investigation of the Federal Department of Plant Industry, is in Mason county and will remain here for several days to make a careful survey of the tobacco fields of the county to learn first hand whether or not root rot, which is expected by the department to have considerable effect on tobacco this year, is affecting the tobacco of the White Burley Belt.

Mr. Slagg and County Agent George Kirk have already made arrangements to carefully investigate in several large tobacco fields today in a search for root rot, which if not taken in time, will do much damage to this year's tobacco crop. Some of these investigations are to be made this afternoon but the farmers of this section are of the opinion that the disease will not be found, as in most parts of the county the matter has been watched closely and no developments of the disease have been noticed.

The State and Federal Departments of Agriculture are very anxious to protect the tobacco of the White Burley belt against root rot and will co-operate with the farmers in every possible way to counter act the disease if it is found here this year.

While here Mr. Slagg will also give demonstrations on how to spray against the disease and will furnish all interested with a formula which is inexpensive and can be obtained at any drug store and yet which has the endorsement of all plant experts in the employment of both the state and federal government.

STEALS BLACKBERRIES FROM PREACHER

Here's the meanest man in Mason county. This fellow on Thursday afternoon slipped up to an automobile standing along the road in the county and stole therefrom a large bucket of fine blackberries which one of our Maysville preachers had worked several hours to gather. A liberal reward has been offered for his apprehension.

RETURN BALLOT BOX KEYS

All officers of election are requested to return the ballot box keys to the County Clerk's office immediately.

County Clerk.

MOST EVERY STATE IS REPRESENTED AT SCHOOL

Special Summer School on Community Leadership in Pennsylvania Hills Is Attended By Many Commerce Board Secretaries.

Eagles Mere Park, Penn., July 18.—Among the 250 men here attending the fifth annual sessions of the Summer School of Community Leadership, which opened this week, is Carl Dodds, Secretary-Manager Chamber of Commerce, Maysville, Ky.

Practically every state and several Canadian provinces are represented by the students, about half of them being secretaries of Chambers of Commerce and the balance, men seeking training in the new profession of community leadership.

The school sessions have been preceded by a week's conference of the members of the American City Bureau staff, of whom there are nearly 100. All phases of city building and civic and commercial organization will be discussed in the school sessions and the class work will be conducted by the foremost specialists in such efforts.

Among the men of national prominence on the staff of instructors are Lucius E. Wilson, pioneer in community organization work; George W. Coleman, Boston; Lawson Purdy, president, National Municipal League; J. Horace McFarland, president, American Civic Association, and Chesley R. Perry, secretary of International Rotary.

The Cincinnati Enquirer has the following to say of a prominent Cincinnati manufacturer who was a former resident of Maysville:

B. A. Wallingford, Cincinnati, 2480 Grandin road, coke manufacturer, will appear before United States District Judge Hollister Saturday morning to answer the information filed against him by the Government Wednesday charging him with having violated the migratory bird treaty act in having in his possession wild ducks.

OMAR DODSON.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN IS NAMED TO CARE FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS

Dr. J. H. Hutchings Named Medical Examiner for Maysville District Under War Risk Insurance Bureau and U. S. Health Service.

Dr. J. H. Hutchings, local physician, who was the medical examiner of the Mason County Exemption Board, this afternoon received appointment from the United States Public Health Service and the War Risk Insurance Bureau, as medical examiner for the Maysville district to care for all wounded and sick soldiers whose illness is caused directly or indirectly from wounds received in service or from exposure while in service.

Dr. Hutchings has accepted the appointment and he accepted some big job when he did for the Maysville district is composed of five counties, Mason, Bracken, Lewis Fleming and Robertson.

All soldiers who suffer from wounds or illness caused while they were in the service will be cared for either by the War Risk Insurance Bureau or by the United States Public Health Service. It will be necessary for all men in this district to apply for treatment to Dr. Hutchings who after examination will either send the men to a government hospital for treatment or enter them in the local hospital, if hospital treatment is necessary. All the expenses of this treatment is borne by the government.

Dr. Hutchings is splendidly qualified for this service as his experience on the Exemption Board makes him an expert on carefully examining men.

CHILDREN TO TAKE PART IN HEALTH LEAGUE MEET

Members of the Modern Health Crusaders of Mason County Will Sing at Annual Meeting—Meeting Place Changed to Court House.

The place of the annual meeting of the Mason County Health League to be held on the evening of Tuesday, July 22, has been changed from the First Presbyterian church to the County Court House, officers of the League announced today.

They also announced that an added feature of the evening's program would be a very important part taken by a number of the school children of the county who are members of a children's organization perfected by the Health Department in the most of the schools and known as "The Modern Health Crusaders." These children will sing health songs and probably have other things quite interesting to do.

With Dr. L. L. Lumsden and Dr. A. T. McCormack on the program there should be a large attendance. It is pointed out with emphasis that this meeting is for the public in general and not alone for Health League members. All who are interested in the work of the League or in health conditions in general, are invited to be present.

CLEW TO AUTO THEFT BEING INVESTIGATED

The only clew that officers have at the present time on the theft of an automobile from the County Infirmary on Wednesday evening is that probably some men brought here from an employment agency in Louisville on Tuesday evening and who ran away from the dam Wednesday evening, might have stolen the machine and might have driven it away. This matter is being looked into very carefully by the police.

WIDOW OF FORMER PASTOR DIES

It has just become known here that Mrs. J. M. Frost, widow of Dr. J. M. Frost, died recently at the home of relatives in Louisville. Dr. Frost was a former pastor of the Maysville Baptist Church and at the time of his death, about two years ago, was Secretary of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

DIES AT COUNTY FARM

Elizabeth Gibbs, aged 97 years, an inmate of the County Infirmary died at that institution Thursday night following an illness of complications incident to such advanced age. Burial was made today at the Bethel church cemetery.

DELIGHTFUL DANCE AT BEECHWOOD PARK

The Maysville Assembly Club gave a very delightful dance at Beechwood Park Thursday evening which was well attended and greatly enjoyed by all. There were several out-of-town people in attendance.

BROWN COUNTY WOMAN KILLS SELF WITH POTASH

Well Known Neighbor Woman Uses Potash in Successful Attempt At Suicide.

Mrs. Lum Stratton, aged 56, ended her life Thursday at the family home on the dirt road, between Fincastle and Mowrystown, in Brown county (Ohio) having swallowed a quantity of potash. She has been in failing health for sometime, and members of the family have taken every precaution to see that she obtained nothing with which she could commit injury to herself. The potash had been only recently brought into the home for cleaning purposes, and the family had no intimation that the mother thought of employing this to carry out her intention.

She was a most estimable lady, and since her husband's death has had the responsibility of rearing the family. She was the mother of Postmaster Lloyd Stratton, at Macon, Ohio.

PRATISE FOR BOYS' BAND

The Ewing Inquirer says: At the Ewing lot sale last Thursday, the Maysville Boys' Band furnished the music for the occasion. This band is composed of young boys, the majority of whom have not been playing only for a short time. They came into Ewing early in the morning dressed in their new uniforms, making a fine showing. Their music was appreciated by everybody, and we hope to have them with us again when we are in need of another band.

ARMY TRUCKS PURCHASED IN OHIO

Two large army trucks which had been purchased from the government by an Ohio road contractor, passed through the city this morning to Ohio where they will be used in road building. The army trucks which have been donated to the counties of this state by the government are expected to be distributed in the very near future.

BERRIES BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

It was thought that the blackberry crop would be exhausted by the end of the present week but the rains of the first of the week have caused the berries to grow rapidly and it is reported that there are more and better berries than ever. Another army of pickers went to the fields from Maysville this morning.

HOME ON FURLOUGH

Thomas Sears, who was twice reported killed in action with the American Expeditionary Forces in Russia, arrived here today from Washington where he is a patient in the Walter Reed hospital, for a fifteen days furlough. Mr. Sears was wounded in the knee while fighting in Russia and is still quite lame but is thought to be doing nicely.

County Judge H. P. Purnell was in Lexington today on business.

ABERDEEN PLANNING TO HONOR SOLDIERS OF THAT TOWNSHIP

Men of Huntington Township, Ohio, Who Served in the World War Will Be Given Reception at Aberdeen on August 14 According to Arrangements.

Our good neighbors of Aberdeen are not to be outdone by any community on earth and they are planning a big celebration and welcome home in honor of the Huntington township men who went to war against German Autocracy. This old township, the citizens of which are proud of their record not only in this war but in all previous conflicts, will have nothing and none to show to the home boys their appreciation of their going to battle and their joy at their safe return, while the memory of the several who did not return will be doubly honored.

August 14 has been selected as the day for the big celebration as it is thought that by this time the majority of the men will have returned home. Huntington township furnished probably more men for the army than any other community of the same size in this section. A great many of the men from that county volunteered before they were taken in the draft by joining the Manchester National Guard company, which was one of the first taken into the federal service.

The day promises to be the biggest and best Aberdeen has seen in years. There will be a cordial welcome to every one to spend the day in Aberdeen. Besides music and many amusements, there will be a free banquet for the returned soldiers and the day will close with a big dance at the Masonic Hall.

WILL TAKE A REST

Lieut. John M. Calhoun, former City Attorney, who has just returned home after many months service in Europe, says he will take a rest for a time before again engaging in his profession of law. Mr. Calhoun's friends are endeavoring to launch a boom for him for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the next race. He is one of the most brilliant young Democrats in the district and an expert lawyer.

ANOTHER WIFE ASKS FOR DIVORCE, CHARGING CRUELTY

Divorce Suits Are Almost Keeping Pace With Marriage Licenses in Mason County—What's Wrong With the Married?

Circuit Clerk James B. Key doesn't know whether its the weather, last year's influenza or what that's keeping him busy issuing summons to husbands informing them that their wives desire a legal separation and to wives advising them that their husbands desire to be freed from them but there's something certainly wrong for there have been few days in the past month that there has not been at least one suit for divorce filed in the local court.

Folks are asking Judge Newell and Circuit Clerk Key to divorce them almost as fast as others are asking Judge Purnell and County Clerk Owens to marry them.

This afternoon Mrs. Lula Welsh filed suit through Attorney Frank P. O'Donnell asking to be divorced from her husband, Arch Welsh. They were married in this city on July 15, 1917. The wife charges that her husband is guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment toward her and that he has such an outrageous temper as to probably endanger her life.

TOLLE-VAN METER

Relatives here were advised today of the marriage in Cincinnati yesterday of Miss Edith Tolle, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Tolle, of Cincinnati, formerly of this city, and Mr. Calvin Van Meter, of Covington. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. W. A. Tolle, of East Second street and was an employee of the Western-Union Telegraph Company. The groom is a native of Fayette county, Kentucky, and an employee of the Covington Water Works.

COMMITTEE UNABLE TO GET TOGETHER

Although a very important meeting of the Internal Improvement Committee of City Council was called for Thursday evening, the meeting did not materialize because of the failure of many members to attend. It is expected that many soldiers will be registered Saturday.

RETURN TODAY FROM LONG AUTO TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Arn and Mrs. Bertie Trapp are expected to arrive home this evening by auto from Detroit, Mich., where they have been visiting for some time.

VOTE ON LEAGUE IS REQUESTED BY SENATOR BORAH

Idaho Senator Takes Rap at "Closed-Door" Policy in Connection With League of Nations.

Washington, July 18. — Proposing that the question of a League of Nations be left to popular decision, Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, Republican, yesterday called upon league supporters in the Senate to join him in securing a referendum.

"The President," said Mr. Borah, "has been sending for Senators and, I understand, will continue to do so until the quota is filled. It is a policy I endorse; I only regret that he began it so late in his Administration."

"But it is not in accord with the tenets of republican government to settle so great a question behind closed doors either at the White House or anywhere else."

"What I would do is send for the people, and the way to do that is to have a popular vote."

Senator Charles S. Thomas, Democrat, Colorado, asked whether the result of any such vote, if favorable to the league, would influence the course of Mr. Borah.

"If I should stay in the Senate under those circumstances," replied Mr. Borah, "it would not. But, there is such a thing as a Senator retiring. Neither will these resolutions and petitions, manufactured and otherwise, that are coming to us, have the slightest effect on my course."

News censorship and propaganda, Senator Borah asserted, are being used to deceive the masses, both of Europe and America, regarding actual sentiment on the league.

OUR POLIOY

And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

LLOYD GEORGE'S TRIUMPHANT RETURN

The return of Mr. Lloyd George to London appears to have been a triumph. In the street, on the way from Downing street to Westminster, and in the House the cheers and applause for the Prime Minister are said to have been unprecedented.

All this does not surprise the watchers on this side of the Atlantic. If there was anything that Lloyd George went to Paris for and failed to get, then we have missed it. He pleased the dreamers of England by advocating the scheme of the League of Nations; and then delighted the practical politicians with the performance of obtaining in the covenant of the League one vote each for the Empire, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and India—six votes as compared with the one vote allotted to the United States.

In addition to getting for Great Britain everything that the most sanguine British imagination could covet in the way of colonial power—including an even firmer grip of Egypt than England has ever had—and the utter destruction of German influence in the eastern hemisphere, Mr. Lloyd George obtained the signature of the President of the United States to a pledge which, if Mr. Wilson's hand and stenographic seal made it binding, would obligate the United States to use to an unlimited extent its wealth and soldiers to preserve the British Empire intact.

Mr. Lloyd George brought to London two skulls. One is the odme, stolen by the Germans, of an African Sultan of unpronounceable name. The other is the skull of Mr. Wilson's declaration that self-determination must be permitted to all nations, great or small. This the Welshman took in the battle of Paris and he may write across the brow Mr. Wilson's later announcement that the Irish question is a domestic problem. It may stand on the mantelpiece in Downing street in front of a framed copy of the late Fourteen Points or Principles.

Small wonder, we say, that those who once yelled "Limehouse!" cried "Hurrah!" when Lloyd George came back to London with his trophies. The fact that the assent of the United States Senate is necessary to the completion of certain parts of his victory cannot detract from the Prime Minister's remarkable accomplishment. He did all he could do and he perhaps expects that Mr. Wilson will be able to consummate the programme.—New York Sun.

THE LIMIT

British manufacturers of steel products are studying American methods of production with a view to the adoption of similar methods for their own manufacture, according to a report from Toronto. And until British manufacturers and operatives adopt a wage-scale similar to that prevalent in the United States, Great Britain will be a competitor of ours to a limit set only by the protective tariff policy which we may adopt.

According to Theodore F. Whitmarsh, one of joint directors of American Relief Administration, who returned from Europe, Sunday, liberated countries of Europe will have enough food by July 1 to last until harvests are completed. America has spent $500,000,000 feeding Europe since armistice against $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 spent in aggregate by Great Britain, France and Italy.—Boston News Bureau.

There are two types of schoolgirls nowadays, those who wear fine clothes and those who are good in their studies.

We're for Stefansson if he can make northern Canada produce anything except cold waves and blizzards.

Health and Happiness

Women of today seem to listen to every call of duty except the supreme one that tells them to guard their health. Home duties, church duties, war activities, and the hundred-and-one calls for charitable enterprises soon lead women to overdo. Nervousness, headaches, backaches and female troubles are the inevitable result.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which, added to my weak condition, kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness. Health and happiness? Yes, I have both now."—Mrs. J. WORTHMAN, 6842 North Taylor Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of women nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. Avoid them by taking in time

ON THE SCREEN

Justice John Stewart of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in a lengthy opinion upheld the rights of Moving Picture Censors, reversing the Philadelphia Court, which had removed the censors' ban on "The Brand." The ruling of the censors on "The Brand" is sustained and Justice Stewart also knocked out the practice of judges of the lower courts in viewing motion picture films and then passing judgment on the character in case of Goldwyn picture films. The Court, the decision holds, can only pass on the question as to whether the censors have arbitrarily abused their discretion.

Justice Stewart, in his opinion, discusses the powers of the Board of Censors and its right to use its own discretion in passing judgment upon motion pictures submitted to it for its approval, and the limited jurisdiction of the courts in overruling any decision of the Board.

Maurie Meyers, who is associated with Edward Small as publicity director, has been engaged to do publicity for the following people: Harry Morey, Lucy Cotton, Helen Ferguson, Eugene Strong, and Hugh Thompson.

Before Judge Martin T. Manton in the Federal District Court last Friday, a decision was rendered in favor of Jewel Carmen, the picture actress, in the contract suit which she brought against the Fox Film Corporation and the William Fox Vaudeville Company. Miss Carmen attained her majority in July, 1918, previous contracts having been made when she was a minor and which she disaffirmed and entered into a contract with the Frank A. Keeney Co. The Federal Court was asked to determine the contracts void and to enjoin the defendants in any attempt to prevent or hinder her profession or preventing her from carrying out her contract with the Keeney offices.

DOLLY MEETS THE WITCH

"Sh-sh-sh," said a small, but rather sharp, voice close to Dolly's ear. Dolly was sitting on old piece of rug busily pulling up weeds and grass out of the onion patch. She had begged her brothers to let her help in the garden, and they had at last consented to allow her to "weed" the onion patch, after very carefully showing her what she should pull up and what she should let alone. She was very much bothered by a kind of grass that seemed to have perfectly endless roots. Just as she was clawing at them with the tined potato digger, she heard the sharp little voice say—"S-s-s-h."

"What is the matter?" asked Dolly, looking all around but not seeing anybody.

"Be careful of my roots," said the small voice. "You are cutting them all to pieces."

"But Billy said I must be very careful to claw out all the grass. He said that was worse than anything else in the garden, and if I found any with these long, white roots I mustn't leave the least little tiny bit of it," explained Dolly, adding, "Billy knows, because he is a United States School Garden Army soldier."

"Oh, well, you don't have to mind everything Billy says," the voice went on; "he doesn't know everything. Why, a little grass can't do any harm. Look how small and fine the roots are and how thin the blades are. You don't suppose such little things can hurt those great, big, fat onions, do you? I don't care for onions, anyhow. I think they take up a great deal of unnecessary room. I don't like their odor much, either. Of course," the voice said, in a smooth, but disagreeable way, that Dolly would have called "hypocritical" if she had known what that word meant; "of course I don't want to say a word against the onion or any of the other vegetables in the garden, but I think people might let some other things grow here, too. I have a friend who told me that he and his whole family were hoed up—just hoed up like that after they had gone to housekeeping and were growing in the finest manner. He and about a dozen of his children were the only ones who escaped. The rest were BURNED."

"Burned," cried Dolly; "Oh, how dreadful. But who are you?"

"You wouldn't know my name if I should tell you; but if you look behind you, you'll see me."

Dolly looked. At first she didn't see anything, but after a moment or two later, she saw, sitting on the very edge of her piece of rug, a tiny thing that looked like a very old woman would look if you saw her through the wrong end of an opera glass. She was not a pretty old woman, either, like Grammy. Her hair was very untidy, and her eyes kept looking around restlessly. But the worst thing was her mouth. She had long teeth, like saw-teeth, sticking out, and she looked ed very cruel.

"I am sure I never saw you before," said Dolly, "and I don't see why you want me not to cut up the grass and weeds. Billy says they will kill all our nice vegetables."

"Nonsense," said the little old woman, very sharply. "Don't you mind what Billy says. Even if you do pull up the grass you can leave a few of the roots—they can't do any harm."

"What's all this—what's all this?" said a very stern voice, suddenly.

Dolly jumped and turned around. There stood the Dewdrop Fairy Queen. She looked like a small thunderstorm. Her brows were drawn down in a frown. She stamped her foot.

"Witch," she said in a very frightening kind of voice, "Begone."

"I shan't," said the ugly little old woman, angrily. "I'm no subject of yours, anyway. I shall stay here just as long as there is a piece of my root in this garden as big as a pin," she snarled.

"Get to work, Dolly," said the Queen. "Work hard and fast. Root up every bit of that grass and tear up the least bit of root. Then you must burn every speck of it."

"Ow—ow—" screamed the old woman.

"Is she really a Witch?" whispered Dolly.

"She really is—the Witch Grass, and the worst enemy the whole garden has. You must not feel any pity for her nor any of her family—they are the Huns of the garden—they would destroy everything else. Remember what I say. You heard what the Witch said? She would stay as long as there was a piece of root in the garden as big as a pin. Unless you want your beautiful, useful garden to be overrun by this wicked enemy, you must get up every piece of grass and every speck of root, and then you must burn them. And after that, be careful where you throw the ashes."

"The tests which must be passed for rank as a second-class scout carry on to more advanced stages; the development of headwork, hygiene, and general helpfulness, began in tenderfoot scout-hood.

The second-class scout, for headwork learns the history and meaning of the flag; knows her own measurements and how to record them; can recognize six animals, six birds, six flowers, six trees, and describe them so that another person may recognize them on sight; she learns the 16 points of compass, how to prevent fire and how to stop it if fire starts; she is capable of using both the general service code and the semaphore code.

The second-class scout, trains her powers of observation by playing games that require quick eye and dependable memory, such as noting at a glance the contents of a shop window, the appearance of passersby in the street, or the game of tracking and stalking in the open. For handwork, the second-class scout learns to lay and light a fire in a stove, in a gas stove, or in the open, using not more than two matches. Having made her fire, she learns to cook simple dishes, such as cereals, vegetables, meats, fish, or eggs. She learns to set a table properly for two courses. She learns to make and air a bed properly, and she learns to make a bed for an invalid. The second-class scout also learns to sew a seam, hem, darn, either knit or crochet, and she must present a garment made by herself which demonstrates her skill as a needlewoman. For health knowledge, the second-class scout demonstrates her ability to stop bleeding, to remove grit from the eye, to treat ivy poisoning, to bandage a sprained ankle, to remove a splinter, and she must know the scout laws of health. For helpfulness, she is required to apply what she learns for the benefit of others, in service rendered to the troop, school, home, church, or community. Thrift is encouraged in the second-class scout test, inasmuch as the girl is required to earn or save enough to purchase some personal or troop equipment to earn or save enough to purchase some personal or troop equipment. Scouts of the second class take pride in drilling with snap and precision.

A first-class scout is almost a grown-up woman, capable of bearing the responsibilities that will come to her in her own home and in the community. The tests require that she be trained to higher efficiency in headwork, handwork, health knowledge, and helpfulness. It is the ambition of every Girl Scout to reach the rank of a first-class scout, when she may work for the highest honor of all, the Gold-Eagle badge, for which the requirements have been raised from 14 points of proficiency badges to 21 points.

The form of the laws, promise, and the tests for scout rank were revised by the National Council in January, 1919. At the opening of every Girl Scout troop meeting, there is a simple ceremony. After the scouts salute the flag of the United States and pledge their allegiance, the captain gives the crisp command:

"Scouts give your promise."

They reply as follows:

"On my honor, I will try to be true to God and my country; to help others at all times; to obey the Scout laws."

"Scouts, repeat the laws" is the next command.

The Scouts answer:

"A Girl Scout is trustworthy; a Girl Scout is loyal; a Girl Scout is helpful; a Girl Scout is kind; a Girl Scout is clean; a Girl Scout is courteous; a Girl Scout is preserving; a Girl Scout is cheerful; a Girl Scout is thrifty."

"Scouts, give the motto," is the final order.

The girls answer, "Be prepared."

There are three classes of scouts—tenderfoot scouts, at least 10 years old; second-class scouts; first-class scouts, up to 18 years of age.

No girl may wear the Girl Scout pin, insignia, or uniform until she is formally accepted as a tenderfoot scout.

To arrive at this distinction she must be at least 10 years old and she must pass the following test to the satisfaction of the Girl Scout officer in charge:

For headwork she must first of all know the Scout promise and laws, and the Girl Scout motto, "Be prepared," and the Girl Scout slogan, "Do a good turn daily;" she must also know by heart the first and last verses of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the full name of the President of the United States, the governor of her State, and the head of her city or town government.

For handwork she must be able to tie four sailor knots in approved fashion—the reef, bowline, clove hitch, and sheepshank.

For health knowledge she learns the simple setting-up exercises and tenderfoot drill.

For helpfulness she promises to try to do a good turn daily to her troop, her school, her home, or her community.

The duty of the switchboard operator is to answer your number calls and get connections for you.

If she stopped to answer questions, the number of calls would pile up and the service would be delayed; this would be an injustice to the other subscribers.

When in response to a question, the operator says: "I will give you Chief Operator," she is obeying her instruction.

If you cannot find what you want in the telephone directory, ask the operator for "Chief Operator" and she will connect you with the "Chief Operator" where your questions will be promptly answered.

YOUNG FEUDIST DIES IN LEXINGTON HOSPITAL

After Killing Two and Wounding a
Third in Reopening of Mountain
Feud, Young Breathitt
Man Dies.

Courtney Noble, 20 years old, of Breathitt county, one of the principal figures in the duel which took place twenty miles from Jackson near the Perry county line, between the Fugate and Noble families on July 4, died at the Good Samaritan hospital in Lexington shortly before midnight Thursday from the effects of three bullet wounds he received in the abdomen during the fight.

Noble was taken to the hospital July 5. At no time had hope for his recovery been entertained by his physicians. His condition had gradually grown worse for the past week.

The shooting which reopened the feud occurred at Clear Creek, more than twenty miles from Jackson, near the boundary of Perry county. Noble, accompanied by his brother, was riding by the home of Donor Neace and both were invited in to attend a marriage ceremony. An argument arose between the Fugate boys and the Noble brothers. The Fugate brothers drew guns and Courtney Noble fell to the ground with several wounds in his abdomen. While lying on the ground Noble drew his revolver and killed Mohogany and Green Fugate and wounded Donor Neace, who was attempting to get into the fight.

Neace is at present in the county jail at Jackson. He received wounds in the head and shoulder by bullets from the revolver of Courtney Noble.

AGED NEGRO IS AN EXPERT BICYCLE RIDER

Harvey Banks, Born in Mason County,
Is Daily Rider of Bicycle Although 75 Years of Age.

The Manchester Signal says: Harvey Banks was born in Mayslick seventy-five years ago as the chattel of Benjamin Omstead of Mason county, Ky. His youth was spent at the Omstead home where he was well drilled in many household affairs; he can cook, spin and weave and when occasion required could heckle hemp. The cruelties wallowed on many slaves did not fall to his lot and today he refers to his former owner, long since deceased, with great reverence. He bought his home here in 1884 and resides in it with his family. He learned the golden rule in the Omstead home and abides by it in his own home and stands well with his neighbors. He is a veteran of the civil war. His body is erect, his senses are normal and today he is the expert bicycle rider of Adams county.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON JULY 20, 1919.

Topic: "The Lord's Supper."
Matt. 26:26-30, 1 Cor. 11:23-29

REV. J. J. DICKEY.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is a concrete reminder of the crucifixion. The passover was a perpetual reminder of God's great deliverance of the children of Israel from Egyptian bondage, and was also a type of the crucifixion—a prophecy of that event where Christ had come and had died on the cross, the passover lost its significance and Jesus instituted in its stead, the Lord's Supper. It is simply a memorial of his death. Not of his life, but of his death. It is not only a memorial of his death but also of the reason why he died—"for the remission of sins." This fact should ever be kept in mind—that Christ died for the remission of sins. This is the central idea of the gospel, and if we leave that out the incarnation loses all its significance.

"He died for you and he died for me. And he died to set poor sinners free." Many have been the things that men have done to perpetuate their memory. Great mausoleums of the most enduring material have been erected. Statues of brass and marble, but these disintegrate and perish; but Christ took the juice of the grape and a morsel of bread and of them made a memorial that has attracted the attention of more people than the most costly monument that has ever been erected, and it bids fair to grip all mankind; verily the wisdom of men is foolishness compared to the wisdom of God.

To eat and drink unworthily is to eat and drink with no conception of the meaning of the sacrament. The act of eating it involves not only a discerning or understanding of the purpose of the ordinance, but that in eating it we pledge our loyalty to our Lord and Saviour. We are to observe this memorial until the Lord shall come again. In the act of eating this supper we are reminded of the second coming of Christ, and our minds should dwell upon this fact.

We are to approach the table of the Lord thoughtfully. The mind should be in a proper state by prayer and meditation. We should also partake of these emblems gratefully, remembering that the suffering here indicated was for us. It was our sins that nailed Him to the cross. This fact calls for faithful service in the church of God. At the table of our Lord we should lift our hearts in praise prayer—praise for what Christ has done for us and prayer for the Holy Spirit to the applying merit of the atonement to our affections, cleansing and filling our hearts with love to God and man.

BILLIE BURKE IS

CLERKS WILL CONSIDER WORKING CONDITIONS

First Regular Meeting of Maysville Clerks' Union to Be Held Tonight
When Wage Scale, the Working Day and Other Matters Come Up.

The first regular meeting of the Maysville Clerks' Union will be held in Labor Hall in the Masonic Temple this evening. The charter for the local union has been received and at this meeting the organization is expected to be perfected.

For the first time the union members will discuss the adoption of a wage scale for retail clerks in Maysville and the officers say that the matter of the number of hours in a working day will also probably be brought up and generally discussed at this meeting. It is not probable that a wage scale can be adopted and a working day be agreed upon at this first meeting but these matters will be generally discussed.

The union is organized with a good many charter members and at this evening's meeting it is thought that quite a number of new members will be added as the majority of the clerks in eleven local stores has signified their desire to become members.
